

Students' Society Of Dawson to Meet, Debate Amendments

First General Meeting Needs 275 Students for Quorum

The Dawson College Students' Society will hold a general meeting Thursday evening, November 21, at 7.00 o'clock in Theatre One. This meeting, the second to be called in two weeks by the Students' Executive Council, is for two purposes. Of these, one is to fulfill the requirements of the Society's constitution which states that a general meeting must be held within one month after the election of the Council.

The second purpose, as disclosed by W. D. Hilliard secretary-treasurer of the Council is to discuss certain amendments to the constitution proposed by the Students' Executive Council of McGill University.

Amendment Proposed

The present constitution was drawn up and ratified at a general meeting of the Dawson Students' Society last year. When presented to the Executive of the parent body, the McGill Students' Society, changes were suggested to bring the Dawson constitution into line with that of the McGill Society. It is these changes, in the form of proposed amendments that will form the chief item on the agenda for Thursday's meeting. In order to be ratified, they must be accepted by a two-thirds majority at a general meeting. Other matters of business may be brought up at the meeting upon presentation of a motion by any member of the society.

In order to avoid the necessity of dismissing the meeting for want of a quorum as happened when less than forty members answered the call to the last general meeting held two weeks ago, special emphasis is being laid on the meeting by the Executive. A MINIMUM of 275 members must attend to constitute a quorum.

FOR VETS ONLY

CLOUDING THE ISSUE

The leadership of any organization can gain nothing by writing out and publishing an indictment of the group it has defeated. Stirring up dead issues and shouting "red" may satisfy old friends, but will not win new supporters.

Student veterans on the campus are looking to the new executive of the Vet Society for positive leadership, and are ready to applaud and support positive leadership.

Useless controversy, which its members have promised to avoid, can only serve to cloud the issue of Student Vet Society activity.

ON THE LIGHTER SIDE

The Vet Society's Entertainment Committee has announced that the first "Do" (this term will take place on Friday at 5 p.m. in the COTC Mess (Currie Gymnasium). Tickets are already on sale. Walter in the Arts Building and George in the Union will collect the quarters. "Liquid refreshments," the Daily's conventional term for anything stronger than ginger ale, will be available at the "Do."

Not to be outdone, the Women's Union is planning entertainment for ex-servicewomen on the campus, from 4 to 6 p.m. tomorrow in the R.V.C. Common Room. Tea will be served.

LEASEHOLD IMPROVEMENTS

High society might still turn up its nose, but Morgan House veterans are proud of the renovating job they have done on the former home of Montreal's better people.

Individual student veterans have invested scarce dollars and many hours of labour in bringing rooms to life with soap and water, paint and varnish, rugs, curtains and even venetian blinds. In some rooms, regular beds have replaced double-decker bunks, fireplaces have been scrubbed, woodwork cleaned. A House Committee is busy spending a temporary boost in rents on furniture for the large common room.

Student veterans at McGill's only cooperative vet residence are hoping to stay on for the "duration" and gambling on a lease extension when the present term runs out next August.

Contest Opened For Permanent Coed Pin

A distinctive pin for all women students will be made available this year by the McGill Women's Union, instead of having a different class pin each year as was the custom previously. The design of the pin has not yet been decided upon, and the Women's Union is sponsoring a contest for pin designs in order to obtain as many ideas as possible. Entries should be submitted either at the R.V.C. switchboard or to Dot Peterson not later than December 1.

The pin may be of any suitable design, but should contain the year, either on the pin itself or on a guard. Such pins could be ordered early each year, and it would not take long to fill the orders because the same die would be used always. All women graduates of McGill would thus wear the same pins.

Rink-Auditorium's Plans For Construction Nearly Set

More money is needed before the building of McGill's Athletic Centre can begin, was the statement issued to The Daily yesterday by William Seller, Campaign Secretary of the McGill War Memorial. The overall total is now $570,000, and $600,000 must be collected before the end of the year.

The corner stone was laid October 6, and working plans are nearly ready. The building tenders will be called for by the University authorities in January or February. From then on, it will be a question of assessing the bids, making a feasible selection, and authorizing the contractors to get underway. The availability of labor and materials as well as price levels, will influence the final decision, which rests with the University.

The University will not undertake construction unless satisfactory maximum dollar value can be secured, and until speedy and efficient construction can be promised. This does not mean that the project will have to wait until possible depression brings abundance of labour and lower prices for materials. The desire of an early completion will doubtless outweigh a considerable proportion of present, highly inflated costs. In spite of the shortage of steel and plumbing supplies required for the swimming pool and the rink, it is expected that the first unit will be near completion before the end of 1947. The Athletic Centre will be finished first, and the construction of the swimming pool unit, followed immediately by the Rink auditorium, will be started.

Mr. Seller further stated that although graduates and many seniors will not have the benefit of the new buildings, he felt that they would not be less enthusiastic in their support of the approaching Rink Auditorium Campaign.

Film Society Showing Three Movies Today

The Film Society will present three pictures this afternoon at 5 p.m. in Room 250 of the Biology Building. The three films, treating on widely varying themes, will add up to approximately 50 minutes showing time.

"Portage Point" is the technical colour film story of the all-but-lost art of building birch-bark canoes. Enacted by some of the very few Canadian Indians still adept at this method of constructing canoes, the film depicts every step in the procedure from birch tree to launching. Filmed against a background of Canadian northwoods and wilderness splendour this production will present spectacular scenery while telling its story.

"Kenai Big Game", also in technical colour, will appeal to wild-life enthusiasts and amateur hunters. There are many fine shots of Moose, Grizzlies, Goats and Caribou in this picture, with the close-ups of Goats and Moose being especially outstanding.

The third film is one of the "Canada Carries On" series.

SAM WATSON

Mr. Watson, a member of the British Labour Party Executive and recent delegate to the National Convention of the American Federation of Labour who will speak at an open meeting of the McGill C.C.F. Club to be held TODAY at 5 p.m. in the Union Ballroom on the subject 'Britain in Transition' and will be available to answer all or any questions on the Labour Government's policies.

REVUE NEEDS STAGE HANDS Set Construction Must Begin Soon

By "The Revue-er"

Gordon Pollock, Master Carpenter of this year's edition of the Red and White Revue, is currently engaged in looking for more practical students who can help him in the building of scenery. Despite the fact that last year Gordon did the work of ten in getting sets ready for the show, he insists that he is no miracle man, and very selfishly demands that he has help.

Since the Revue is to be staged in February, as much work as possible must be completed before Christmas. Therefore would anyone interested in working on scenery, painting, and properties please get in touch with Gord at any of the following times when he will be found in the Revue Office in the basement of the Union; today (Tuesday) from 3.00 to 4.00 and from 5.00 to 6.00, and again on Wednesday morning. If anyone is not able to come down at any of those times, a note with George at the Tuck Shop bearing name and phone number will do just as well. It is not necessary that you have any experience in backstage work, our Master Carpenter is known to be a wonderful teacher; and also the more people who show up, the less work for each individual.

U of M Vets Society Seeks Work Solution

Seeking summer employment for veteran students is considered one of the most important problems facing the Student Veterans Society of the University of Montreal, according to a report received last night.

Established last year and composed of 85 per cent. of the veterans attending the university, the society has numerous activities, but is mostly concerned with education and government grants.

Last summer the society contacted local authorities of the Inter-University Club and obtained employment forms which were filled out by vets in need of summer work. The system gave certain results, but the society hopes to improve it this coming year.

The Band Plays On!

Band Executive Declaims Past, Looks Forward to Better Future

(This is the first of a series of articles prepared by the University Band executive intended to enlighten the student body on the present condition of the McGill Band.)

For years, especially during the last two of the war, there has been considerable criticism against the band. An interesting feature of this attack is that it comes from those who know little or nothing about our organization. Until this year the band has been under the leadership of a student member. To those whose knowledge of band work is limited, this setup seemed ideal. However, facts showed this to be untrue.

The longest term during which any one student was able to lead the band was for three years. This in itself is wholly inadequate. A brass band, similar to any team, must train under responsible leadership for many years in order to develop a tradition worthy of the institution it represents. Sgt. Major Black, a distinguished band-master of considerable experience, fully possesses the ability to do this.

For many years, the band had been sadly neglected financially. Fortunately, during the last two years, and especially this year, financial aid to the band has been increased. A new budget, now being drawn up, will insure our long lost security insofar as instruments, uniforms and trips are concerned.

Coupled with the desire to greatly increase the band membership, and also the quality of its music, the executive will strive to provide an instrument for any student willing to play it.

All that is now required are men and women who would like to learn to play good music, and to enjoy themselves doing it.

Arts, Science Plan Contests Dept. Awards

Following a recent meeting of the Arts and Science Undergraduate Society Executive, the president of the Society, Bob Gill, has announced details of the decisions reached by the Executive. Under discussion at the meeting were: Inter-class debating, Arts and Science Awards, and a Faculty crest; a number of appointments were made and the date of Joint Meeting of the Executive and the various class executives was decided upon.

Appointments made were as follows: 1st year president, Carlyle Johnson; 2nd year president, Dixie Armitage; 2nd year treasurer, Jack Scott; Arts and Science Representative to the Interuniversity Athletics Council, John Rogers; co-chairmen of the New Year's Eve Dance Committee, Dick Denman and Al Mackey.

A contest for the designing of an Arts and Science Crest, which would serve as the distinctive emblem of the Faculty, was also announced. Designs for the crest should be addressed to the Arts and Science Undergraduate Society, and left with Walter in the Arts Building or with George in the Union Tuck Shop, before December 15. The winner of the contest (Continued on Page Four)

Redwing Calls For Executive Nomination

Nominations of new members for the following positions on the executive of the Red Wing Society are now open:

Two representatives from first year R.V.C. (one must be a resident student, one a non-resident.)

Two representatives from second year R.V.C. (one must be a resident student, one a non-resident.)

Two representatives from third year R.V.C. (one must be a resident student, one a non-resident.)

One representative from the first year of the School of Physical Education.

One representative from first year Physiotherapy.

The society consists of sixteen members, eight of whom are elected in December of each year to hold office for two years. Candidates must be registered members of the Women's Union and the M.W.S.A.A., and must have good scholastic standing. No conditioned students are eligible.

The Red Wing Society was organized in 1938 as a women's honorary society corresponding to the Scarlet Keys. Their main purpose is to help in the organization of any college activity.

Last year the Red Wings helped at the series concerts, the Veterans Reception in January, the

Lord and Lady Alexander Named Honorary Patrons For Subscription Concerts

A Message from the Principal

The Committee that has organized the McGill University Student Subscription Concerts deserves the thanks and the cordial support of the whole student body. It has assembled as outstanding a list of soloists as could be heard in any one season anywhere, and it is really remarkable that so young an organization as the Student Concerts Committee should have succeeded in securing the services of such performers as Carol Brice, William Primrose, Jesus Maria Sanroma and Mario Berini. The list would be a credit to any old established impresario.

If this standard is kept up and the Committee receives adequate support from the student body to encourage its continuance, the Concert Series will become one of the most important musical events in Montreal and will reflect the greatest credit on the discriminative taste of the Student Committee. Such programmes cannot fail to be of the utmost musical benefit to everybody who hears them.

Call Nominees For Vacant Dawson Post

The call for nominations which went out last week to fill the post of president of the Dawson Arts and Science Undergraduate Society, left vacant by the resignation of Irving Pfeffer, has, so far, gone unanswered. Advertisements appearing in The Daily have not brought any response.

Nominations close today at 4.00 p.m. so that it is still not too late to initiate action. The position carries with it not only the leadership of the Arts and Science Undergraduate Society but also a seat on the Students' Executive Council so that this contest is, in effect, a by-election for a representative from one of the largest electoral constituencies to the Dawson student government.

Valid nominations, must be signed by the nominee and fifteen members of the Arts and Science Undergraduate Society. They are to be turned in to W. D. Hilliard, secretary-treasurer of the Students' side the lounge in the gymnasium Executive Council, in his office before 4.00 p.m. today.

Bank History Is Discussed

Banking, the collapse of earlier financial structures, and the revival of the banking system following the Middle Ages to the present day were discussed last night by S. R. Noble, O.B.E., at a joint meeting of the McGill and R.V.C. Historical Societies.

Speaking in the R.V.C. Common Room, Mr. Noble traced a pattern of events in which many early financial empires fell owing to mismanagement of monetary control.

From the time of Solomon, whose lack of financial acumen the speaker was at pains to prove, a series of economic collapses was outlined. After the Renaissance rebirth of banking, the shift world economic dominance from Europe to North America was shown. In conclusion Mr. Noble enlarged upon the unprecedented rise in Canadian banking influence during and since the recent war.

Inasmuch as Canada and the U.S. were now in a leading financial state, the outside world looked to them for wise leadership in establishing a stabilized system of financial control.

MCGILL RIFLE CLUB

Carol Brice In Montreal Debut Friday

His Excellency Field Marshal Viscount Alexander, Governor-General of Canada, and Lady Alexander have graciously accepted to act as Honorary Patrons to McGill's Student Subscription Concerts, it was announced last night.

The complete list of distinguished patrons includes:

CAROL BRICE

Mrs. J. W. McConnell, Mr. Charles F. Sise, Mr. Paul F. Sise, Mr. Arthur B. Wood.

SERIES OPEN

The opening concert of the series is to take place next Friday night, November 22, at 8.30 p.m. in Royal Victoria College, when the guest artist will be the young American contralto, Carol Brice. This young artist will be appearing in Montreal for the first time, and it was announced last night that leaders of concert organizations throughout the city will be invited to attend her Montreal debut as guests of the Concerts Committee.

Miss Brice was the first of her race to win the coveted Naumberg Foundation Award, entitling her to a debut in New York's Town Hall. Since her appearance with the Boston Symphony Orchestra last year, under the baton of Serge Koussevitzky, Carol Brice has risen quickly to become one of the most talked of artists of the day in the United States. Her recording of Mahler's "Songs of a Wayfarer" has attained great popularity, and she was one of the artists chosen to appear in this year's Berkshire Music Festival at Tanglewood, Massachusetts.

Subscription tickets and individual tickets are available.

Rep by Pop

Among the lesser known and least publicized governing bodies on the campus, the Students' Athletics Council provides an excellent example of the anachronism which is McGill's athletics organization. Organized over twenty years ago, the Council has seen many and varied amendments tacked on to its constitution, most of which have missed the very point which makes the Athletics Council a useless functionary body giving the students some feeling of control over policy and budget, little of which is actually present.

While the original purpose of the S.A.C. was a worthy view toward controlling administration and proposed expenditures of athletics for men, the body as presently constituted is unrepresentative and bewildered. Of the twelve students sitting on the S.A.C., only two are representative of student opinion generally — one being the President of the Students' Society and the other the representative to the Advisory Athletics Board. The remainder of the members represent students interested in a particular sport by virtue of being a manager of that sport. The manner in which these managers are chosen has verged on the ridiculous on occasions when no one was available, and a personal friend of the retiring manager has accepted the thankless task. These men have, on the whole, a sincere interest in particular sports—but are overcome by and often inept at determining policy. They themselves are not to blame. For the most part they are willing to try, but are hampered by the system set up in the days of meagre student enrolment, and which is still expected to serve the original purpose at this time when weight of numbers and a necessity of decentralization has prevented a realization by individual managers of the campus-wide problems in athletics.

If McGill's organization for the control and administration of athletics is to reach any further peak, one of the first jobs which must be done is the complete revampment and modernization of this Council. If students are to have a say in these matters, we must have an Athletics Council which can truly represent student opinion directly and where recommendations passed will have the approval of the campus and so warrant their serious consideration by its immediately superior body the Advisory Board. At the present time no progressive matters of policy have been presented because the members and, no less, the chairman, have been hampered by an incomplete background. How can it be otherwise when the chairman presides at a maximum of four regular meetings, usually over a period of four months? The time lag results in a too-long agenda which has to be completed at the expense of a thorough study of important problems.

One of the first aims to which we must point, then, if we are to see increased student participation in the determination of athletics policy, is a practical Athletics Council. Such a goal is deserving of serious consideration by students now if any worthwhile action is to be pressed in the near future. — A.K.

Class Tests Over for Dawson Engineers.
Many reported walking around St. Johns in a dazed and somewhat befuddled condition. Interviewed Engineer stated that exams were of a type that "drove a man to drink." After a very becoming blush and a Chieft smile, (practically all gum) he was forced to admit that it didn't take much driving to make a Plumber drink. . . .

Comments on the Engineering Informal.
"Escorts" really a "smooch" orchestra. Only criticism was that as they were "pressed" as the sweet and low type of band, they should have accentuated the slow. On the whole, vocals and orchestration were way above expectations. . . . Got a kick from a group of "Plumbagoes" (read on) who gave the following, loosely scribbled, yell.

Rid-did-ee-loot
Rid-did-ee-loot
We're the boys from the Institute,
We don't schmoke,
We don't chew,
We don't go with girlish that do,
For our class-won-the-Bible.

I May Be Wrong But:

I think that Dawson's Student Council has, up until now, done nil for the Belsen Boys. Seems only yesterday that Churchillian phrases flew through the air, promising better mail, laundry, and bus services. This reporter doesn't want to be an agitator but how about signs of life in the form of improvements not general meetings. . . .

Orchids to Messrs. Goldwater and Griffin for a really good floor hockey league. . . . Local bookies call "Alkies" to win. They should cause isn't blonde and pretty Mrs. Em Orlick one of their ardent supporters. . . .

Onions to
All Dawson students, conservatively estimated at 50 per cent., who take no interest in campus activities. All take but no give. . . . Smarten up fellows, Dawson will only be as good as YOU make it. . . .

Best Wishes to
The Red and White Society, who are going to try and muster a little life and spirit on Dawson's subdued campus. They start on Tuesday, Nov. 17th. Theatre 1. All those who filled the R. & W. registration cards and all those who are interested in giving Dawson a life transfusion are urged to be on hand. Bob Mackay, of the Sherbrooke St. Branch of Dawson, will officiate. . . .

John Gielgud Coming in Wilde's 'The Importance of Being Earnest'

John Gielgud, the great English actor, with his famous Repertory Company will perform Oscar Wilde's "The Importance of Being Earnest" at His Majesty's Theatre beginning on January 27th, 1946. The Canadian Tour of this accomplished company is under the management of Brian Doherty, well known to Canadians as the author of the successful play "Father Malachy's Miracle."

Mr. Gielgud, has been a professional actor for 25 years, and he has received world-wide renown for his excellent performance in everything from Shakespearean tragedy to Restoration comedy. His first personal success in London was in the production of "The Constant Nymph" as Lewis Dood, the composer. In 1929 he joined the Old Vic Company and played such outstanding Shakespearean roles as Macbeth, Richard II, Anthony, and King Lear. It was in 1930 that he appeared for the first time as John Worthing in Oscar Wilde's "The Importance of Being Earnest". His success in Wilde's comedy brought a command performance last April from their Majesties. During 1945 John Gielgud flew to India, at the request of the British Government, along with his company and scenery, and played there for several months in his production of Hamlet as well as "Blithe Spirit". At present he is appearing in the dramatization of Dostoevsky's "Crime and Punishment" at the Globe Theatre in London.

Critics have said that "The Importance of Being Earnest" is the best English play written since 1700. Wilde, has a genius for dandified wit, and after the first performance its brilliant dialogue and witty epigrams were soon being quoted all over the civilized world. It has been translated into nearly every language and has been produced many times in Germany, Russia, France, and other European countries, where Wilde's popularity is second only to Shakespeare.

Mr. Gielgud will have an excellent cast for his Tour. Pamela Brown who gave a sensational performance as Lady Macbeth with The Old Vic Company and is at present playing the lead opposite Laurence Olivier in his London production of King Lear, will appear as the leading lady opposite Mr. Gielgud. Miss Brown has also appeared in a number of English films including "One of Our Aircraft is Missing" and "I Know Where I'm Going".

For the comedy part of Lady Bracknell in Wilde's play, Mr. Gielgud has chosen Margaret Rutherford. Many Canadians will remember her in the role of Madame Arcati, the spiritualist in Blithe Spirit. Robert Fleming, Jane Baxter, Jean Cadell round out the cast of fine English stage performers.

Following their Canadian Tour, the company will leave for New York where they are slated for a 16 week engagement. Mr. Gielgud's Company is being sent to this side by the British Council, a branch of the British Government, whose functions include the sponsoring and supervising of the export of the best British Art in all its forms. Last season they sponsored the visit to New York by the Old Vic Company. The success which greeted The Old Vic, prompted them in sending Mr. Gielgud's Company. This will be the first time this celebrated artist has ever played in Montreal.

LETTER FORUM

The Editor, McGill Daily.

Dear Sir,

This letter has been written more as an indirect protest to the President of the Dawson Student Council, who is apparently inaccessible by the proletariat, than as a criticism. I would suggest that Mr. Gudgeon examine the manner in which mail is distributed from the Admin Building, if he has not already done so; for part of his platform in the election campaign was the promise to reorganize the inefficient methods of the Post Office. This has not been done, and the situation has grown steadily worse.

The first and most important fault is the time wasted in queue. It is now necessary to wait at least one hour in line, if you wish your mail during the morning. This could be remedied in part by opening the side door of the post office and handing out mail to people from A-M there, while retaining the present door for those from N-Z.

The second complaint is the seemingly haphazard system of sorting the mail upon arrival. A fellow in our dorm made three successive trips to the post office before a letter which had been there on his first trip was discovered for him. Another time he was listed among those for whom a parcel had arrived. The post office could only find it after a long search. There are many similar complaints, which could be alleviated if the employees would be a bit more careful when placing the letters in their alphabetical boxes.

A third mistake was the shortening of the post office hours from eleven o'clock to four forty-five to eleven to four o'clock. The reason given was more incoming mail, but they seem to forget that means more mail to give out. The solution would seem to be to employ another person to help the one and a half persons already occupied.

Yours truly,
JOHN BISHOP.

The Daily Meets

Sam Watson

—by Mary Howell

"The British Labor government couldn't make a bigger mess of the coal mines under national ownership than was made of them under private ownership during the last 250 years." These words were spoken by Sam Watson, member of the British Labor party and one man who feels he knows what he's saying, with 24 years as a miner to support his claim.

Now completing a lecture tour throughout Canada and the United States, Mr. Watson went to work in the mines at the age of 14, following the example of his father and grandfather before him. He worked in Boulden Pit, in Durham, a town he said, "with 5 churches and 5 pubs, all of them equally popular with the people."

After having won a contest sponsored by the Trades Union Congress for an essay on the Tolpuddle Martyrs, Mr. Watson was elected by popular vote to the position of General Secretary of the Durham Miners association.

The English miners, said Mr. Watson, are politically aware. Their unions have always been very close knit and because of this they have obtained for themselves many benefits. He described the work of the Welfare work of the National Coal Board. From a levy of a penny per ton the board has set up a welfare fund, the proceeds of which are used to establish pit-head baths for the miners, canteens, recreation facilities such as cricket, football and recreation halls, rest homes for recuperating miners and rehabilitation centres. This same fund has also educated 3,500 sons and daughters of miners since 1922, sending them through university at no expense to their parents, with living allowances of $1,000 a year.

During his trip Mr. Watson has had a very good opportunity to observe conditions here and in the United States. We have been very fortunate here in Canada, he feels, to have escaped the inflation which other countries have suffered, although this is due more to our system of price control than to luck.

I inquired as to the story of the Tolpuddle Martyrs, to which Mr. Watson had referred. These, he said, were farm laborers in Dorset who in 1834 organized an agricultural union to try and raise the wages from 8 to 9 shillings per week. As at this time it was illegal to take an oath except in legal proceedings, an informer got into one of their meetings. The leaders were arrested and sentenced to deportation to Australia. The essay for which Mr. Watson won the prize of 50 pounds was on the economic significance of this incident.

Following the conclusion of his address here Mr. Watson will leave for the Maritimes. This is his second trip to Canada, the first being

U. OF M RECITAL SERIES
Tickets for the U of M recital series will be on sale at McGill in the near future. Archambault sells them, and so does the office of the "A.G.E.U.M." in the U. of M. Building on the Mountain.

JEAN DANSEREAU

"Les Amis de L'Art" are presenting a series of Sunday afternoon recitals and talks by Jean Dansereau, the noted Canadian Pianist. We regret that owing to lack of space, we were not able to print a review of the last recital yesterday. We reprint the review here:

"Mr. Dansereau has the rare faculty of being able to put into words his feelings about music. For the Recital-Causerie at the Plateau Hall on Sunday, the works chosen were Bach's Chromatic Fantasia and Fugue, Chopin's First Ballade, and two of his Mazurkas. The interpretations were formal, rather cold.

But the informal atmosphere established by Mr. Dansereau's causerie remained. The warmth returned when he spoke of his music, freely illustrated his points with well executed excerpts. The recital was deservedly well received.

Alouette Adieu

Large Crowd Throngs Stadium To Prove Popularity of Football

By SAUL HERBERT RUBIN
(Daily Staff Writer)

The power of the press was well demonstrated on Saturday at the Alouette-Argo football game as well as at previous Alouette tilts. For it was the press that created a new attendance record for Canadian rugby with their tremendous buildup of the Haymanites ever since September. Of the 23 odd thousand who witnessed the spectacle, I'd bet dollars to doughnuts that not more than 15,000 knew what football was about or ever saw a game before this year.

INFORMATION S.V.P.

The four Alouette games that this observer has seen this year leads to that conclusion. Although not a football expert, we were the centre of information at each game, explaining to our neighbours what each play was about and outlining a few rules that they didn't understand. But despite their ignorance of the game these fans, predominantly French-Canadian, took great delight in the proceedings and cheered more enthusiastically than many a Red and White supporter.

If Hayman could get Blanchard here and persuade Bertelli to change his name to Bertrand the Alouettes could easily draw 40-50 thousand if they could find a stadium large enough to hold the crowd.

The local press took a bad beating.

Exhibition Contest Indicates McGill Cage Strength

McGill's entry in the most popular sport in America, basketball, will be initiated tomorrow night at the Currie gym, at approximately 8 p.m. Yes, the world premiere of the 46-47 edition of the Red and White hoopers is on schedule when coach Lew Davies quintet takes the floor against a powerful Y.M.-H.A. team.

Tomorrow's tilt is the first of a series of exhibition games that Davies has lined up for his charges to tune them for the Intercollegiate melees that doesn't open for the locals until February 1st when they play hosts to Varsity. These prep tilts will determine who will form the ten-man Intercollegiate squad.

YMHA STRONG

Veering from the usual routine of lining up push-overs in pre-season exhibition matches, Davies has chosen to initiate his contingent against one of the most powerful cage squads seen in these parts in many a year. Last Wednesday the Y Blue literally ran circles around a dazed Rockland team to carry home a 49-27 victory. This time however the Mount Royal Avenue quintet will be even stronger as it is expected that Dave Greenburg and Joey Richman will be out in Blue and White jerseys.

FACE GREENBURG

Greenburg will be remembered (aside from Alouette fame) as the steady guard on last year's McGill squad and high scorer in the MBL two years ago when he played for Combines. Richman was recently

Intramural Hoopsters Commence Play Soon

With the football season over, the basketball season is ready to swing into gear. All arrangements have been made for starting the intra-mural league and all that is needed now is players. . . . That means you.

Lists have been posted on the various faculty notice-boards and class teams with managers should be reported as soon as possible so that the schedule can be started.

Any faculty may enter as many teams as it wishes, and the more teams the better. A list of each team complete with managers should be given in to the Intra-mural Athletics Office in the gymnasium building.

Sign up and play basketball for your faculty and yourself.

BY GEORGE, WE'RE BACK

"Yes, we are back," says GEORGE DAVIDON and GEORGE HALE, who warm the cockles of Coach Davies' and Coach Campbell's hearts, respectively. That's a duo whom the coaches can truthfully say "Let George Do It."

St. Johns Floor Hockeyists Look To Oncoming Playoff Contests

The second half of the Dawson Floor Hockey League started last night with only two teams, the Alkies and the Commercials, remaining unbeaten and untied, after two and one weeks of action-filled play.

With the playoffs due to start in three weeks, all twenty-nine teams will be struggling for the first two positions in their respective leagues. When all the fighting is over, 118 games will have been played and 350 men will be tending their bruises. The tightest race is in League "F" with only two points separating first and last places.

COMMERCIALS TOPS

The highest scoring team is the Commercials with 20 goals and boasting the league's leading scorer, Ted Jones, who has dented the twine twelve times. The Commercials have one of the best passing attacks.

The Alkies have shown themselves to have the strongest defense with Gordon McCarrell and Russ Brochie keeping the sharpshooters away from goalie Chub Kent. Kent, who leads the league in shutouts with three, has allowed only one goal in four games while his teammates have scored 23.

Twelve shutouts and eight draws have been played in sixty games. The oddest play occurred in a game between the Stallions and the Six Drips, when the former, goalie in-

Dawson Plays American Cage Aggregations

"One away, and nine more to go!" is the cry currently being heard in the Dawson Seniors' dressing room, following the team's initial victory over the Budds in the Montreal Basketball League opener last week.

Coach Charlie Goldbloom's boys are coming out for practices every night this week in anticipation of their next loop encounter against the Y.M.H.A. on November 20 at the Sir Arthur Currie Gym, and mentor Goldbloom reports that "our boys have really been flying in these sessions, and continue to improve after every spin".

LINE UP INTACT

Goldbloom's Senior lineup of last week is intact, with the exception of "Pop" Keele, who is a doubtful starter after a finger injury sustained in the opener. Otherwise the Red and Blue warriors will stand pat with their

Intermediates Seek Second Dawson Win

This Wednesday night the Dawson Intermediate Basketball squad intends to carry off its second straight win of the new season. In winning the league opener over Loyola last week, the team proved itself to be a contender for the 1946-47 championship. Red Somers, who has been coaching the team in the absence of coach Jim Holmes, has a number of new plays ready for use, and thinks his boys can bring home the laurels.

SAMSON ADDED

The team has added strength in the person of Paul Samson, a former star with West Hill High School. Paul has shown up well in the last few practices and will prove a very valuable addition, to the squad which will be intact for this week's game. Lining up on the forward line with Samson are such notables as Tig Chaloner, Frank

Face Carabins In Season Opener

By ALEC MACINTYRE

Dave Campbell's hockey champs are making final preparations for the opening of the Intercollegiate circuit at the beginning of next month. Yesterday's grueling workout was the first of four set for this week; the other three will take place today, Thursday and Friday with the possibility of an exhibition game on the weekend.

FACE U. OF M.

The Intercollegiate schedule, which has been increased to nine games this year, will get underway earlier than ever before. U. of M.'s Carabins will play hosts to the Redmen at Verdun Arena on Dec. 7, a Saturday night. The following Friday will find the locals at Toronto for their first game out of town; one week later they will open their home stand against their prewar American rivals, Yale Bulldogs.

The team will have to be reduced to twelve players in conformity with Intercollegiate regulations for all league fixtures. However, in all exhibition games the coach plans to use as many as eighteen players.

H-S-H LINE INTACT

It is almost certain that the forward trio of the Hale brothers and Reg Sinclair will remain intact but the absence of Jimmy O'Connor until after the Christmas holidays may make a big difference in the makeup of the other forward units. Ernie Spiller, a fast left winger, may shift to centre between Ward Pittfield and Joe Pettit. Jack Miller may pivot another line flanked by Atkinson and Brough. This is all speculation, however, since Dave Campbell hasn't finished experimenting yet.

There is an unfortunate dearth of Dawson talent on the squad. The coach feels that this is partially due to the inconvenience of the practice hours and he is trying to arrange a more suitable hour for later in the week, which will give Dawson candidates an opportunity to turn out. There will be more in the Daily about this in the next few days.

McGill Badminton Zealots Flock To Gymnasium Court Facilities

If the crowds attending the mixed Badminton sessions at Currie Gym these evenings are any indication, the bird-bashing sport appears to be in for a boom year at McGill. The attendance to date has been far in excess of anything attained last year and a large proportion of those turning out have been taking advantage of Doug Grant's instruction.

COURTS AVAILABLE

As this is a concert-free week, the courts will be available Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday nights from 7.00 p.m. on, and coach Grant, the former World Professional champion, will be out, as usual, on the first two nights. It is possible that the girls' basketball team will be using the small gym for practice sessions on certain Thursday evenings; when this is the case, one court will be set aside in the large gym for instructional purposes.

McGill will be entering a team in the forthcoming M.A.A.A. International Badminton Tournament which commences on Nov. 25th at the Peel Street club. The girls have already announced that six of their number will be entered and it is probable that a similar number of men will represent McGill. Any badminton player around the University is eligible to enter this tournament on their own, even if not on the officially sponsored team. Application may be made at the Gym or to Manager John Stubbs not later than Nov. 22nd, and the entrance fee is $1.50 per each per event. The entrance fee, however, in addition to ensuring you a few games with the test will be awarded a free pass to the A.C.S. Formal.

Bob Broderick, Gordie Gosselin, Ted Latter, Babe Thompson along with a Newcomer from Acadia University, Anderson, form the defence in front of Jack Gelleneau

The executive has decided to institute Arts and Science Awards this year, as it feels that the Student Council Awards are too limited in number to accord proper recognition to many students. The Awards will be in three classes; Class "A" Awards consist of a McGill ring and a Certificate, and are limited to 5 annually; Class "B" Awards consist of an Arts and Science pin and Certificate, and are limited to 10 annually; Class "C" Awards consist of the Certificate alone and perhaps a free pass to the Society's last social function of the year. Nominations for recipients of the Awards may be submitted by any undergraduate in the faculty, and the list of recipients will appear in the Daily by March 5.

Contingent on student interest, inter-class debating will be organized by the executive, under the direction of the Arts and Science Debating Representative, Jim Paterson. A joint meeting of the Arts and Science executive and the class executives of the various years has been set for November 24, at 3 p.m. Place of the meeting will be announced at a later date.

Prof. Em Orlick has been trying to line up a few exhibition games for the boys and hopes to hear from some teams in the United States and in Quebec City. If these plans are completed the Inters will have their hands full proving their worth to the student body.

After Wednesday night's game the team gets a rest until they meet up with the boys from Macdonald College on December 4th. This game will be part of a double-header as the Senior team plays Migo the same night.

ing on the game. Not only were their predictions of an Alouette massacre shattered but their devaluation of Joe Krol must have been humiliating for seldom, if ever, has one person so dominated any game in any sport as did Krol on Saturday. Any one that can throw 4 complete passes out of 9 with 2 slipping through the receivers' hands, literally waltz his way 6 yards through the centre of the line for a touch, kick two converts with practically no effort, as well as form the backbone of his team's defences is simply "terrific."

The local Red and White hoopers will present a no less formidable aggregation though three of last year's standouts will be missing — Greenburg, Pete Finlay and Ronnie Bower. However back in harness for ye old Alma Mater are fabled footed George Davidson, stylish Sammy Roth, steady Kenny Hove, lanky (6'7") Mart Goodwin, Phil Welsberg, Manny Shacter and Lou Zalkind. In addition will be Bob Duford and Frank Kaszas who both were standouts with last year's Dawson squad; Chuck Murray and Bob Beaugrand who made brief but impressive appearances with last year's senior squad and who starred on the intermediate team along with Mickey Davine, another newcomer.

Fighting Bobby Forand, who turned in a noteworthy offensive and defensive game in the opener, and Keele, if recuperated by that time, will alternate on the starting quintet. Former Kingston Collegiate star Keele has been rounding into top shape, and in a recent exhibition game sank fourteen points. Duford's big "7" was seen all over the floor against the Budds, as he and teammate Frank Kaszas have proved invaluable acquisitions to date for the Seniors.

The Cafeteria staff have arranged to give us supper at the usual rate of forty-five cents. Tickets for supper will be on sale at Divinity Hall before the practice. If you can arrange to have the right change with you it will help considerably. We hope that all those who signed the list last week are still planning to come, as our treasurer will have to ante up for any places that are not filled. We plan to be finished in lots of time for those who want to go to the symphony concert.

Mr. G. Stuart Richardson of Northern Electric Co., Montreal, will be the evening's guest speaker. His subject will be "The Taverns of Old England". Mr. Richardson was recognized as an authority on this interesting subject in pre-war days. He has just returned from an extended visit to the Old Country and should have an interesting account to give.

These meetings are designed especially to give the students in Chemical Engineering an opportunity for meeting their professors informally.

Those students intending to attend this meeting are asked to contact the chapter's executive members in their respective years, not later than Tuesday noon so that arrangements can be made for the catering of supper—price 25 cents.
